

Marble Found in New Jersey.

George W. King, son-in-law of the late S. S. Kimball, whose residence was on Franklin Street, corner Harrison, and who owns a large tract of property in Sussex County, about three miles from Stanhope, made an important discovery on his ground on Monday, that will yield him a fortune and at the same time open up a new industry in New Jersey.

About a year ago Mr. King was prospecting for zinc and found a trace of marble. He thought little of it at the time, but one day last week, while making an excavation, he discovered a solid ledge of the same stone, and he believed that it was solid marble. He procured the services of a mineralogist, who examined the ground and discovered a ledge of marble resembling the Knoxville marble, over 300 feet long and 50 feet in width. He took specimens of the marble to expert stone-workers, who pronounced it to be valuable. The stone is very hard and is susceptible of a high polish. It is dark in color, is very prettily mottled, and is of a kind greatly in demand for wainscoting, fancy table tops, and monuments. The ledge is on a line with the Franklin and Passaic zinc deposits, and although the ledge is free from iron or zinc ore, the mineralogist predicted that rich deposits of white limestone and zinc will be found under the ledges of marble.

This is the first deposit of marble ever found in New Jersey, with the exception of a few traces discovered on Schooley's Mountain some years ago. The ledge is about a mile and a half from Lake Hopatcong and within a stone's throw of the proposed new Lake Hopatcong Railroad, which will run from Susquehanna to High Bridge.

Mr. King proposes to form a stock company, and will begin to work the ledge and take out the stone as soon as necessary arrangements can be perfected. The find is estimated to be worth about $100,000.

The Opening Day.

The Asbury Park Auditorium is open with a fine programme of services on the coming Sunday, which no doubt will attract large audiences on account of the special prominence of the speakers.

The first service will be at 10.30 o'clock in the morning, and will be addressed by Rev. Madison C. Peters, pastor of the Bloomingdale Reformed Church of New York city. Dr. Peters is one of the best preachers of New York city, and is so well known that his name is almost a household word.

At 2.30 o'clock the Sabbath-school will open in charge of Mrs. Isabel Alden, who is well known through her mon de plante, "Pansy," under which name she has written so many valuable books. She will be assisted by her husband, the Rev. G. R. Alden, D. D., insuring very pleasing exercises.

At 4 o'clock the National Service will be held, to be addressed by Hon. Roswell G. Horr, ex-United States Congressman from Michigan. Mr. Horr is well known as a brilliant orator, his voice having been heard so often in almost all of the cities of this country that comment is unnecessary.

At 6.30 o'clock the Young People's Service will be opened with an address by Rev. Francis E. Clark, of Boston, President of the United Christian Endeavor Societies, and at 7.30 o'clock the Rt. Rev. Cleveland Coxe, D. D., Bishop of the P. E. Church for Western New York, is to give the address. A fine programme of music, consisting of selections by a choir of fifty voices and prominent soloists from New York city, will be rendered at the services.

The Auditorium has been improved and enlarged during the winter season, and can now readily accommodate 5,500 people.

Food and War.

The July number of "Food" will be signalized by an intensely interesting article from the pen of the eminent writer, William O. Stoddard, on the subject of transportation in its relation to the art of war in ancient and modern times. The many aspects of the subject are wrought out in a manner to attract the attention of the student of history, of conquest, and of commerce, and in fact every one who delights in good literature. In touching his theme the author so presents the philanthropic phases of the freight-car as to surround with romance that uncouth factor in civilization. The paper is illustrated with many captivating sketches by the Halm. The Clover Publishing Co., 71-73 Park Place, New York. —Advt.

Repairing done with neatness and dispatch.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.
From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at George M. Wood's Drug Store; regular size, 50c. and $1.00. —Advt.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure it with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure, send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J.
